Eleemosynary A Play

In Eleemosynary playwright Lee Blessing, like

he does in all his work, celebrates the joy of language and its intrinsic power to create storms of imagery. In this short, elliptical and direct play which demands a symbolic staging, Blessing gives us three generations of Westbrook women- a unique family blessed (and cursed) with supreme intelligence and eccentricity.

Eleemosynary is a one-act play by playwright Lee Blessing about three women and how their lives intersect and affect each other. I played Echo, the youngest of the three; her mother is Artie and her grandmother is Dorothea. The play takes place in 1985 and is non-linear in structure.

'Eleemosynary' is a play written in 1985 by Lee Blessing that follows the complicated relationship of three generations of highly intelligent women in the Westbrook family.

The eldest is Dorothea, an elderly woman who has chosen to be an eccentric. Her grown daughter is Artemis who works as a biochemist and possesses a remarkable memory.

Eleemosynary is a multi act play by Lee Blessing [1]. Plus, I learned the definition of, and how to spell, "eleemosynary". The structure is something I'd like to see performed before I am convinced it works, because too often it reads like difficult exposition handled in a simplistic way, but this is largely off-set by the unity of conflict inside the difficult relationships of intra-generational women.
