Grief Girl: My True Story Grief Girl is a very good example of how NOT to raise a child. The book tells, in vivid detail, what happens when a child has no value system, faith or hope. It is the story of what NOT to do during the grieving process. While well written, it is NOT a story of love and hope.

The author of Grief Girl is Erin Vincent. In this true story, Erin Vincent, as well as Tracy and Trent (Erin's sister and brother), loss their mother when she was hit by a tow truck while crossing the road with her husband to go to a fruit stand. Their mother died instantly and the father was hospitalized.

Grief Girl is the true story of Erin Vincent, a 14-year-old Australian girl whose parents are hit by a speeding tow truck and die. Her grief, and that of her older sister, is unbearable and they both struggle for years to find themselves, and each other, in the midst of this unbelievable sadness.
